

Strong and Beautiful!

PROCERA® ... the All-Ceramic crown for all positions in the mouth!

PROCERA® All-Ceram is a coping made of extremely dense-sintered aluminum oxide. The coping is produced in an industrial process known as Procera®, which ensures optimal fit, great strength, non-porosity and has the ability to transmit light without being transparent.

The Zirconia coping is a highly bio-compatible material, comparable to titanium which minimizes the risk of allergic reaction. When combined with Procera All-Ceram Porcelain these characteristics are put to their very best advantage. The porcelain has been especially adapted to the coping's translucence and fluorescence which opens an entirely new era in the history of using porcelain in dentistry.
